Subject: Reinders Property Development
Comment: Dear Planning Commission, We have been Elm Grove residents and homeowners for over 50 years. We love living in our low-key, uncrowded village. It was a perfect place to raise our five children and remains an ideal home for our retirement. We are deeply concerned about the plans for a large apartment complex at the Reinders property. We feel that the charm of our village will be compromised by the scale of the project, and that a large population of renters will change the positive dynamics that stable homeowners add to our village. We acknowledge that the property owners have rights to develop their land in accordance with existing zoning, but we encourage you to make all efforts to ensure that the interests of the current residents are taken into consideration. In particular, prior to granting any rezoning or variances, the project should be scaled back and be a mixed-use project of upscale condominiums and retail that would enhance, rather than detract from, those positive qualities that attracted us to the Elm Grove we love. Sincerely, James and Joan Foley

We have been Elm Grove residents and homeowners for over 50 years.

We love living in our low-key, uncrowded village. It was a perfect place to raise our five children five children and remains an ideal home for our retirement.

We are deeply concerned about the plans for a large apartment complex at the Reinders property. We feel that the charm of our village will be compromised by the scale of the project, and that a large population of renters will change the positive dynamics that stable homeowners add to our village.

We acknowledge that the property owners have rights to develop their land in accordance with existing zoning, but we encourage you to make all efforts to ensure that the interests of the current residents are taken into consideration.

In particular, prior to granting any rezoning or variances, the project should be scaled back and be a mixed-use project of upscale condominiums and retail that would enhance, rather than detract from, those positive qualities that attracted us to the Elm Grove we love.
