Subject: Gebhardt Plans for Monday

Dave/Richard –

The link below has the most current version of the plans for Gebhardt that we can review on Monday night.

 Plans for March 13 Meeting

A few notes:

- Please remember that, in the cross sections, our “Y”-scale is much more exaggerated than the “X”-Scale.
- The south side of Gebhardt is much more refined than our last meeting.
- The north side of Gebhardt and all of Highland I still being refined with match points and ditch grading.
- Pavement markings aren’t shown on the sheets, but they’ve been designed and we’re working on getting those in.
- These are not final plans, but I would say they’re about 80% or so.

We’re continuing to plug away on this. It’s a lot of jumping around to make sure things are draining and driveway culverts have enough cover, and things are matching in where they need to match in, etc.

Please let me know if you have any questions in the meantime.

Thank you,
