Do you have any other comments you would like the Village President to know?

One of my personal heroes, Jane Jacobs wrote, "Cities have the capability of providing something for everybody, only because, and only when, they are created by everybody." Like Jacobs, I believe that great communities are a co-creation of their inhabitants. Elm Grove's greatest asset is our social capital. We benefit from a highly participatory culture comprised of residents that give generously of their time, talent and treasure.

I would approach the role of Plan Commissioner with great humility, seeking input from residents, local business owners, Village staff and other stakeholders. My mantra would be, "First, do no harm". Calling again on Jane Jacobs, I would say "flexible and gradual change" is almost always preferable to "cataclysmic, broad-stroke redevelopment".
